

England Athletics at a glance

At a glance

England Athletics' vision as the membership and development body for grassroots athletics and running clubs in England is to make athletics and running the most popular and inclusive sport in the country.

We support our 1,800 affiliated clubs and organisations (covering track and field, road running, fell, hill, trail and cross country clubs), 187,000 registered athletes, 30,000 licensed coaches and leaders and 5,200 officials. By listening and consulting with our membership to understand what's needed at a grassroots level to develop athletics and running, we support our member clubs and athletes from start to finish with, for example, coach development opportunities, resource provision for whole club development planning, volunteer training and recognition, welfare support and event registration.

England Athletics' clubs will be part of the new funetics movement. Our vision is for every primary school aged child in the country to be able to access funetics sessions in time and follow our trackable physical literacy based course. funetics is proud to welcome two of our sports' greatest competitors to help inspire children to take part in fun athletics and get more active. Commonwealth Heptathlon Champion Katarina Johnson-Thompson has agreed to be our funetics ambassador and the funetics' insole partner, Enertor, brings with them the support of the world's fastest man, Usain Bolt. Find out more by visiting funetics.co.uk.

We also work to inspire everyone in England to start running as part of a group or community. These community campaigns include:

RunTogether (a national recreational group-based running opportunity with over 130,000 active runners in 2,632 groups: when surveyed, 74% of these runners said they felt running was good for their mental wellbeing and 89% said they had increased happiness as a direct result of running with others or in a group.)

This Girl Can Run (a running activation campaign from Sport England's parent This Girl Can campaign with over 127,883 women in our social media community of whom c.30,000 have been influenced to run regularly).

#RunAndTalk

#RunAndTalk (a partnership with Mind to support Time to Talk Day and World Mental Health Day with both organised and ad hoc runs taking place plus the new #RunAndRevise campaign to help students take a break from exam pressure) with a network of volunteer Mental Health Champions in England Athletics affiliated clubs and RunTogether groups promoting mental wellbeing through running.

Our strategic priorities:

England Athletics has three strategic priorities which run until 2021 and potentially beyond:

1. To expand the capacity of the sport by supporting and developing its volunteers and other workforce: our key ambition is a 6% increase in the number of licensed leaders, coaches and officials every year. We are currently on track to achieve this.
2. To sustain and increase participation and performance in our sport: our key ambition is 160,000 more individuals registered with England Athletics through our athlete registration (23,000) and RunTogether programme (137,000) combined. We are currently on track to achieve this.
3. To influence participation in the wider athletics and running market. Our key ambition is to have 650,000 more people to become regular athletes and runners. We are currently on track to achieve this.

Facts and figures for the 2019/20 affiliation year

- Our sport has continued to grow since the release of our strategic plan in 2016. There are 187,000 athletes and runners registered with England Athletics.
- The number of registered athletes and runners has increased by 3% in the last 12 months and by over 75% since 2009. (Source: England Athletics Data)
- There has been a 3% average improvement over the last two years in top 10 performances across all events. Our ambition for supporting more athletes to deliver better performances at all levels of our sport remains our long-term ambition.
- The number of women athletes registering with England Athletics during 2018/19 was 88,000. This equates to 47% of all registered athletes.
- The number of registered women athletes and runners has increased by 3% in the last 12 months and by over 80% since 2009.
- The overall running market looks healthy with at least 6.5 million people running twice a month or more. In addition to the 6.5 million regular runners, there are c.8 million people who are more occasional runners, c.8 million people who are lapsed and c.4 million people who have an interest in running but not yet started.
- During 2019/20, 460,000 people were influenced in some way by England Athletics to participate in running or athletics on a regular basis – a figure which has increased from 265,000 in 2016/17.
- Currently 28% of runners are from socio-economic groups C2DE, 12% have a limiting long-term disability or illness and 10% are from a BAME origin. Of those people who express an interest in running but currently don't the percentage from the groups above are higher than current active runners, this demonstrates the potential to increase diversity in the future.

Club affiliation and athlete registration

As a member of the England Athletic family, running and athletics clubs receive many services, programmes and discounted rates on qualification and development opportunities.

Membership of England Athletics isn't just about benefits, but also about everyone contributing to ensure that the sport is serviced via coach and leader education and development and welfare support for example.

England Athletics knows that athletes lie at the centre of our sport. That is why we work hard to attract athletes into the sport and then provide them with the support they need whatever their aspirations or ability. Many of the services that are available to athletes are accessed through being part of an athletics club that is affiliated to England Athletics (individuals can not register with England Athletics).

England Athletics provides a wide range of services, programmes, qualifications and development opportunities for its affiliated clubs and athletes:

Our values

The diverse nature of athletics and running allows everyone, whatever the age, ability or background of the athlete, coach or volunteer, to have a sense of achievement and move towards a healthy lifestyle as part of the England Athletics family.

Our values of pride, integrity and inclusivity are embedded in our DNA as a grassroots membership body to guide our work to help make running and athletics in England the most popular sport in the country. There are an estimated 8,000 disabled athletes and runners in the England Athletics family who are supported by, for example, Find a Guide (an online database where visually impaired people can search for and contact guide runners to support them to run) and #RunAndTalk.

Supported by Mind, the mental health charity, #RunAndTalk is a programme which aims to improve mental health through running with a network of volunteer Mental Health Champions in England Athletics affiliated clubs and RunTogether groups. A new campaign for May 2019 was the #RunAndRevise campaign when England Athletics, supported by Mind the mental health charity, encouraged young people to take a break from exam revision and improve their mental wellbeing through running either at a run organised by an England Athletic Club, a RunTogether group or at an event organised by their school, college or university.

We also have an organisation-wide action plan for mental health focussing on employee wellbeing, as well as mental health activity in the wider sport. England Athletics was one of the first signatories of the Mental Health Charter and has also signed the Time to Change Pledge.

England Athletics' belief is that people should be equally empowered to get out, be involved and feel better. We believe that when you empower people and remove barriers for disabled people so that they people engage with community activity through volunteering or participating, it produces a more joined up society.

We work with and through a number of third party organisations to provide opportunities for athletes and runners of all abilities, particularly around competition delivery e.g. English Schools AA, County Associations and Area Competition Providers. In such a broad sport it would be impossible to work in any other way and it is a special aspect of the sport with much of this work being coordinated by volunteers.

Our values of pride, integrity and inclusivity are embedded in our DNA as a grassroots membership body to guide our work to help make running and athletics in England the most popular sport the country.

Volunteers

Our volunteering programme is creating an attractive volunteering identity which can make volunteers whatever their age, disability, gender, race, ethnicity, sexuality or social/economic status. of all ages and regardless of their physical or mental disabilities feel more positive and proud of their contribution to our sport.

We are committed to the belief that a person's wellbeing is enhanced by volunteering and contributing to the community and we are focussed on ensuring that this is maximised for new and existing volunteers.

Our heritage

Athletics in England has a rich history and heritage, and we celebrate the achievements of our athletes from today and yesteryear to inspire future generations. The England Athletics Hall of Fame was launched in 2008 and honours those who have made an outstanding contribution to the sport of athletics in England.

Each year the public is able to vote on a shortlist of athletes who have been put forward for voting by our

This in turn will:

- Increase the wellbeing of the individuals involved in volunteering and participating, and improve communities around athletics providers and ultimately society
- Improve perceptions towards disability in and around athletics settings
- Lead to greater social cohesion and understanding through an increasingly diverse workforce that has stronger links with its local community panel of experts. The England Athletics Hall of Fame ceremony each year takes place alongside the England Athletics National Awards for volunteers.

The annual England Athletics National Awards programme sees many volunteers from across the country recognised for their contributions in supporting the development of the sport.

Young people and England Athletics

Around 900,000 children between the ages of 5-15 participate in athletics at least once per month. England Athletics' new U11 programme, funetics, helps children to learn, develop and practice running, jumping and throwing all year round.

England Athletics' clubs will be part of the new funetics movement by hosting child-centred sessions to help primary school children become more active.

Developed for boys and girls aged 4-11 years, funetics caters for children with no previous experience of running, jumping or throwing activities. It is designed to help them to build their skills and confidence through physical literacy, which helps build a foundation for both other sports and for a healthy balanced lifestyle, and most importantly to have fun.

England Athletics and UKA

As the grassroots membership and development body for athletics and running, England Athletics works to secure resources to enable the development of the sport for member clubs and affiliated athletes and runners. We support affiliated clubs to prosper by developing more and better coaches and recruiting and supporting volunteers, leaders and officials. England Athletics provides and supports competition opportunities at an international (England representative), national, area and county level.

As the national governing body, UKA (United Kingdom Athletics) is responsible for a key number of high level functions, including the provision of World Class Performance Athletics such as GB & NI international teams, UKA Rules for Competition, coach licensing and officials licensing.

Funding

We have continued to receive valuable funding from our partner Sport England during this period, but our reliance on this source had been decreasing year on year thanks to the support of our clubs and athletes and commercial partnerships with sponsors.

Our total expenditure, at a headline level for the year 2019-20 was as follows:

- Membership and registration 39%
- Sport England 32%
- Other Grant Funding 1%
- Courses & Workshops 14%
- Road Race Licencing 6%
- Commercial Partnerships 6%
- Event/Competition Income 1%
- Other Income 1%
